ran up Broadway, in order to intercept him, calculating he would surely take that route. But O'Neil hnew better than that; and getting a carriage in an instant, directed the Jehu to drive rapidly through West street, and Washington, and other obsoure streets, till they reached the Astor House in safety, and without being recognized. they reached the Astor House in safety, and without being recognized. The rascally driver charged two dollars when he knew that he carried General Pierce.

By this time the multitude of office seekers had increased to a tremendous extent, and a deputation came from the soft shell committee to ascertain whether the General would receive that body. The reply was a decided negative. General Pierce said he was travelling privately, and had made up his mind to receive no committees whatever, though he was willing to receive

The hard shells acted with more tact, for they did not seek an audience, but consulted, as they said, General Pierce's expressed wishes in the matter.

An immense number of persons visited General Pierce, and left their cards, during the day—some of them office-seekers and politicians, and others who called on him out of pure respect; while some, equally warm in their admiration, evinced it in the way they thought best—namely, by staying away. Among the host of visiters were Mr. George Bancroft, Bishop Wainwright, the Mexican Consul General, Mr. Krastus Corning, Albany, and, who else does General, Mr. Erastus Corning, Albany: and who else does the reader imagine?—James Watson Webb, of the Courier and Enquirer, who looked very anxious, and who, it is said, would not refuse a mission to Austria. We should also mention that Governor Seymour, of this State, was among the visiters. The Governor Seymour who accompanied General Pierce to this city is of Connecti-

By far the longest visit was paid by Mr. John Van Bu-ren, who seemed determined to monopolize him, and not to give the hard shell leaders a chance. It is shrewdly suspected, however, that but little impression was made custem house, post office, and other local appointments.

Desperate efforts were made on all hands, if not to influence the President elect in his choice, to find out whom he had chosen; but all was of no avail-he firmly kept his own counsel, and the curious went away as wise as

In the course of the day, General Pierce held a more in-teresting interview than any of these, and that was, ac-cording to appointment, with the mother of John Mitchell, now in exile in a penal colony for asserting the freedom of his native land. Of the nature of that interview we are not at liberty to speak.

A large number of the officers of the army waited on General Pierce, not to seek office, but to show their respect for the man. All these gentlemen, and all the brave Volunteers who fought in Mexico, had free ac-into the presence of General Pierce, but Sergeant O'Neil soon taught them they could not play that game.

The Sergeant displayeduncommon energy in keeping out intruders, but at the same time did his duty in the most gentlemanly manner. He is a gallant Irishman, who has lived many years in this country, and was with General Pierce throughout the Mexican campaigs. He is an active man, of dark complexion, and wearing a moustache. He is about thirty-five years of age, equally ready in wit as in a passage at arms.

Mr. Sidney Webster, the private Secretary of General Pierce, was kept very busy during the day in receiving earth and letters, and admitting the visiters, some of whom would have crowded rather fast upon the General but for his interposition.

and he resolved to leave the city en route for Washington by the half-past five o'clock train for Philadelphia; but so well did he keep his secret that he got away as quietly as he came, and the politicians were quite taken by surprise. Only two or three persons knew anything about it till the cars were going off; and the crowd merely learned the fact of his being a passenger in time to give him a hearty cheer, as the brakeman raised two flags at the brake of the hindrost ear. the back of the hindmost ear, which was the one set apart for the General, his secretary, Sergeant O'Nell, and two or three gentlemen from Philadelphia, and one er two officers of the army. Thus departed the chosen head of twenty-five millions of people.

General Pierce looks much better than might be exexpected under the circumstances. But he is by no means strong, and it is to be hoped that those who pro-fees to be his friends in Philadelphia and Baltimore, will show their friendship and consideration by allowing him private and quiet way that he desires.

Mrs. Pierce will remain in Boston until after the inau-

ARRIVAL OF GEN. PIERGE AT PHILADELPHIA.

PRILADELPHIA, Feb. 17, 1853.

General Pierce, attended by his secretary, Mr. Webster, and Sergeant O'Neil, arrived here at half-past 9 o'clock this evening. He was accompanied through New Jersey by Mr. Franklin Kinney, of the State Executive Commit tee ; John P. Jackson and Col. Curtis, of New Jersey ; Mr. ead, of Pennsylvania; and other gentlemen, and took lodgings at the Merchants' Hotel.

He will probably leave in the morning train for Balti

THE VERY LATEST FROM WASHINGTON RELATIVE TO THE CABINET.
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD. Washington, Feb. 17, 1853. From the very latest information received by the Cabi net makers here, it is now considered a "fixed fact"

1. Com. Stockton does not go into the Cabinet; but if we can't have Bob in, we may yet have Dobbin.

That the report of Flagg's appointment was got up to overslaugh Marcy and Dix, but has ended in smoke. 3. That Caleb Cushing does not go into the Cabinet; and 4. That Mr. Hunter, though he did decline the State Department from strictly private reasons, may yet turn up either there or in the Treasury Department.

5. "Young America" is fearful of Marcy, for his apintment would be their death warrant, as they suppose 6. Some faint rumors of Charles G. Greene, of the Boston Post, going into the Cabinet. 7. The Southern rights men seem to think that if Mr. Hunter is left out, and especially if Jesserson Davis, or one of his school, is not appointed, Pierre Soulé will come into the Cabinet as Attorney General. ANOTHER CABINET ARRANGEMENT-GEN. PIERCE'S

RESIDENCE, ETC. FROM A REGULAR CORRESPONDENT, WASHINGTON, Feb. 17, 1803.

The Cabinet reports to-day assume the following

State Department ... Caleb Cushing, of Muss.
War Department ... Jefferson Davis, of Miss.
Post Office ... John A. McClelland.
Interior ... Mr. Guthrie, of Ky. The foregoing are all nearly certain.

The Treasury Department lies between Mesers. Marcy, Flagg, and Dix, of New York. The Navy will go to either Stockton or Dobbin; and the Attorney Generalship to Judge Cambell or Judge Black of Pennsylvania. It is believed the Cabinet will embrace at least three Southern men.

President Pierce has engaged an elegant suite of rooms at Willard's, for himself, lady, and secretary. President Fillmore has engaged the same apartments, on and after the 4th of March.

The committees of the corporate authorities, and the Jackson Democratic Association, will meet the President elect at Baltimore, and welcome him to this city.

Gentlemen's Hats—Spring Fashlon for 1853.

—We perceive that the prines of hatters. ESPENSCHEID, of 107 Nassau street, corner of Ann, gives notice that on Saturday, the 10th inst., he will issue his new spring fashlon for gentlemen's hats. We were permitted to look at one of this gentleman's latest fabrications, and in justice to the inventor we are bound thus publicly to declare that it is one of the most exquisite hats we have seen. Lightly built, and of the most elegant shape and perfect proportions, it gives to the whole person a grace and finish which we have never seen equalled by any other hat. Beside these superlative recommendations as a hat, it has another in the fact that it is sold twelve and a half per cent less than is demanded in Broadway for hats far inferior in quality and workmanship.

By Letters Patent secured in 1849. Pulvermacher's Patent Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains, constructed to be worn under the garments, are the most wonderful discovery in medicine and electricity of the present day. They relieve, without pain or shock, instantaneously, acute nervous pains, such as head, ear, and toothe ache, rheumatic pains, tie doloreux, &c., and by its mild but continuous and preceptible action on the body, diseases of years' standing—such as gout, local paralysis, nervous complaints, liver diseases, &c.—disappear as if by a miracle. They precipitate metals from their solutions, decompose water, deflect the magnetic needle, in short, show all the phenomenon of a powerful voltaic pile. The instruments producing these effects weigh about two conces, can be folded up in a pocket-book, are always ready for instantaneous use, and will last a man his lifetime, guarding himself, family and friends, &c., against that number of diseases and complaints in which utild streaming electricity is a perfectly safe, certain, and wonderful speedy remedy. The price of a complete chain is from $1 to $5: batteries, $10 to $22 50.

Incredible as may seem the above facts, any person can easily convince himself beforehand, at the depot, of their truth. The importance of the invention has been achnowledged in America by the Academy of Medicine of New York, and the chains have been applied with great success in the medical colleges, the City, Bellsvue, and Ward's Island Hospitals, Brooklyn City Hospital, &c.; in Europe, by the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Sargeons in London; by the Academis Nationale de Medecin at Faris; by the kaperial faculty at Vienua; by the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Sargeons in London; by the Academis Nationale de Medecin at Faris; by the kaperial faculty at Vienua; by the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Sargeons in London; by the Academis Nationale de Medecin at Faris; by the kaperial faculty at Vienua; by the Academis Nation
